Dear Dean Balogh,

It is with genuine joy that I bring to your attention the existence of the Constitutional Law Magazine, a biannual scientific publication, issued both in Romanian and English, whose underlying goal is the advancement of legal scientific research, striving to tie in the connection between constitutional theory and jurisprudence, while also zeroing in on the process of constitutionalization of law. The Constitutional Law Review publishes studies and reviews of judicial practice in the field of Romanian constitutional law and comparative constitutional law.

The Constitutional Law Review readily opens its pages to authors from around the globe. The editorial board strongly encourages both theorists and practitioners in the field of Law to fully employ this tool for the dissemination of their results, thus furthering the promotion of constitutional principles and values, aiding the spread of the constitutional courts' jurisprudence and shedding light on the European Union Court of Justice and the European Court of Human Rights, but also on other international bodies, showcasing the European standards which safeguard the fundamental rights and freedoms promoted by the Venice Commission.

The Constitutional Law Review is indexed in the following international databases: HeinOnline, EBSCOhost and Central and Eastern European Online Library. The review and its conditions of publication can be consulted at <https://www.revistadedreptconstitutional.ro/en/>.

While I am aware of your very demanding duties, I do hope that you will find it possible to disseminate amongst the members of the Faculty of Law the invitation to publish in the Constitutional Law Review. Scientific papers submitted for publication should be sent to redactie@revistadedreptconstitutional.ro.

Sincerely yours,

Prof. dr. Tudorel TOADER

Rector of Alexandru Ioan Cuza University of Iași

Member of the Venice Commission
